DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. The objection to Fig. 6 is withdrawn because it does believe that the element is prior art.

2. The objection to claim phase: "substantially equal to" is withdrawn.

3. Applicant's arguments filed on March 22, 2004, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner has thoroughly reviewed Applicant's arguments but firmly believes that the cited reference reasonably and properly meet the claimed limitation as rejected.

Applicant's argument – "element 304A of Hassoun is not a digital frequency synthesizer."

Examiner's response – Applicant is reminded that the Examiner is entitled to give the broadest reasonable interpretation to the language of claims. It is well known that clock signals that drive an integrated circuit are generated by a frequency synthesizer phase-locked loop (PLL) or a delay locked loop (DLL). So the Examiner considers "a DLL" to be "a digital frequency synthesizer" within the broad meaning of the term. The Examiner is not limited to Applicant's definition which is not specifically set forth in the claims. In re Tanaka et al., 193 USPQ 139, (CCPA) 1977.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 1, 2, 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable by Hassoun (US 6,487,648 B1).

a) Regarding claim 1, as shown in Figure 4, Hassoun discloses a digital clock manager having a reference input terminal (REF_CLK), a skew input terminal (CLK_FB), an output terminal (O_CLK), and a frequency adjusted output terminal (CLK_J), the digital clock manager comprising:

a delay lock loop (DLL) (304B) coupled to the reference input terminal, the skew input terminal, and the output terminal; and a digital frequency synthesizer (304A), coupled to the delay lock loop and the frequency adjusted output terminal.

- b) Regarding claim 2, the delay lock loop is configured to generate an output clock signal on the output terminal, which synchronizes a reference clock signal on the reference input terminal with a skewed clock signal on the skew input terminal. (Col 10, L5-13; Fig. 5)
- d) Regarding claim 4, the delay lock loop (304B in Fig. 4) comprises a DLL output circuit (510 in Fig 5) having a DLL output delay (D-CLK in Fig. 5).
- e) Regarding claim 5, the digital frequency synthesizer (304A in Fig. 4) comprises a DFS output circuit (510 in Fig 5) having a DFS output delay (D-CLK in Fig. 5).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3, 6-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
7. Claims 19-22 are allowed.
8. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

None of the prior art teaches or discloses the subject matter of an output clock signal has being synchronized with a frequency adjusted clock signal during a concurrence. Claims 20-22 are allowable because they are dependent upon claim 19.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
